
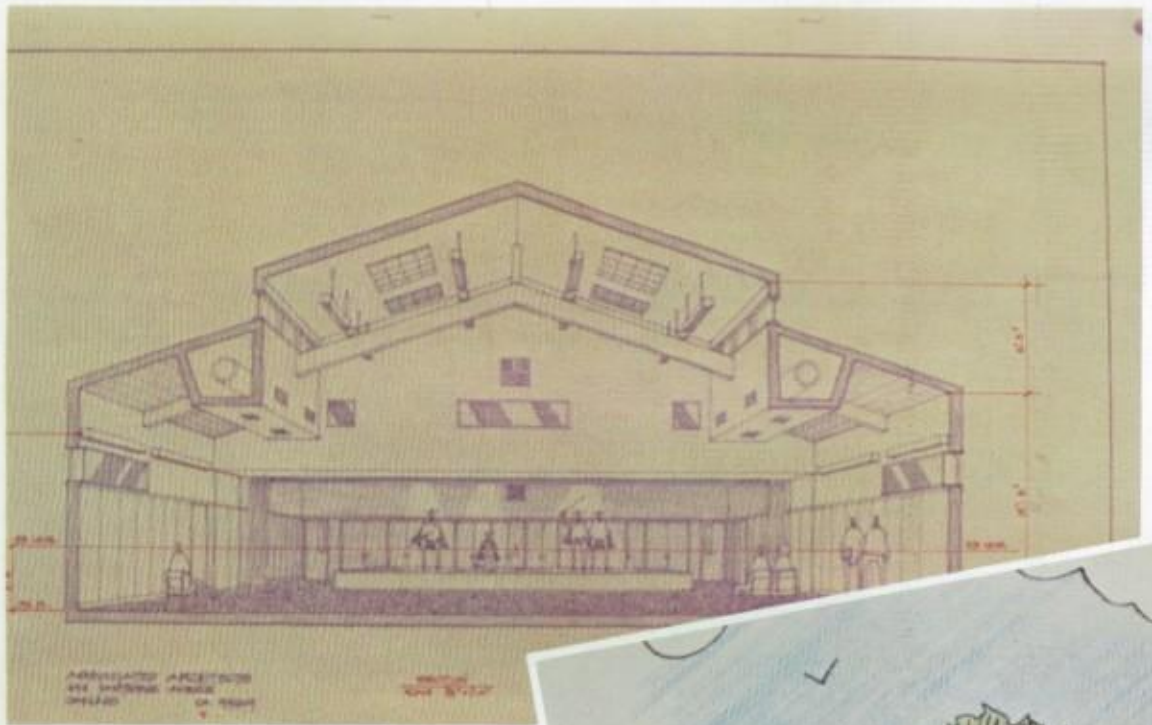
SEMPERVIRENS 1984

A New "Add-ition"



January 7, 1983, was the day of the official ground breaking ceremony for our new buildings. After much patience with the noise, limited space, and having no senior lawn, the time finally came to unveil these welcome additions to our school. These buildings were the result of the LeRoy Green fund, which allotted our school district $1.6 million to complete the project. The buildings were not the only results of this undertaking. Pride and respect for our school was also evident among the students. In 1954, thirty years ago, our present school began a long and prosperous career. Now our school has expanded to include a performing arts center, a career center, a science wing, and an English building.

A New "Addition"
Principal Bill Lamson has put a new look together for SLV and boy has he got a contender.

This is dedicated to:

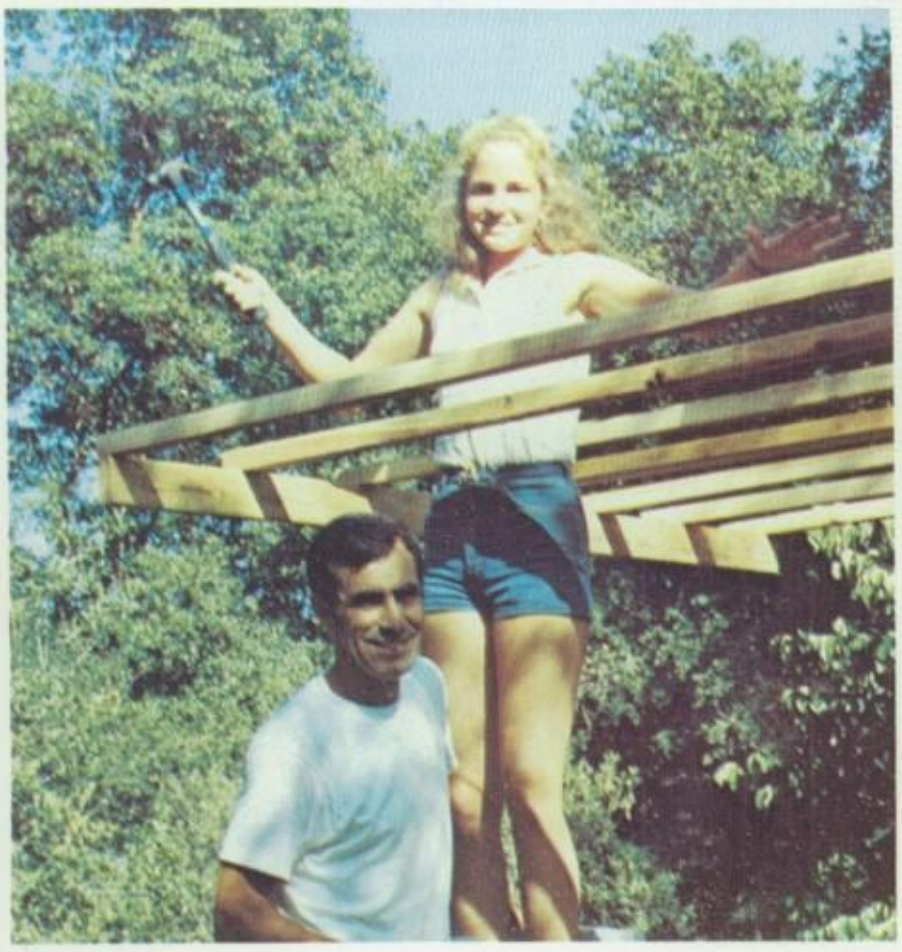
"CONGRATULATIONS SKINNY"

Through the years, Tom Nelson has been a building force at San Lorenzo Valley High School. His dedication, wit, and sweet-loving spirit has constantly affected the lives of his students and friends for the past thirteen years.

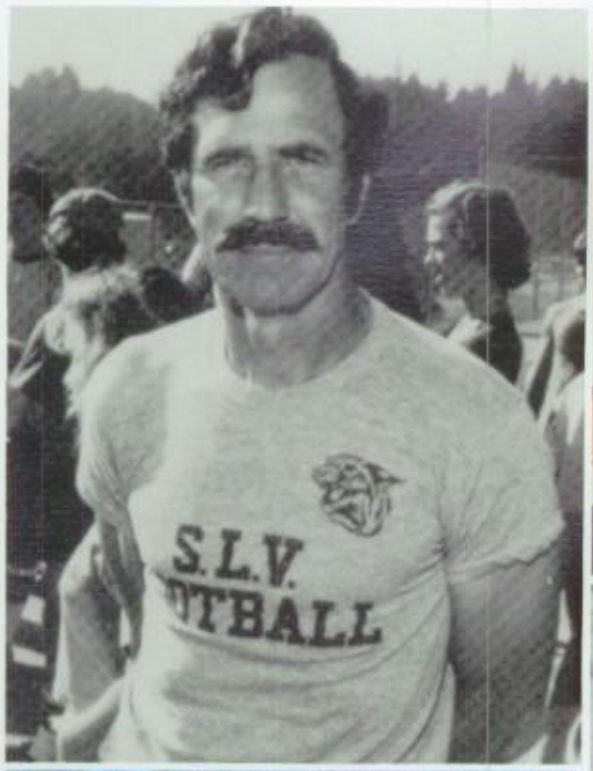
He can always be seen loitering at the rear entrance of the staff room, jogging behind his avid athletes or ambling down the hill with a cup of coffee.

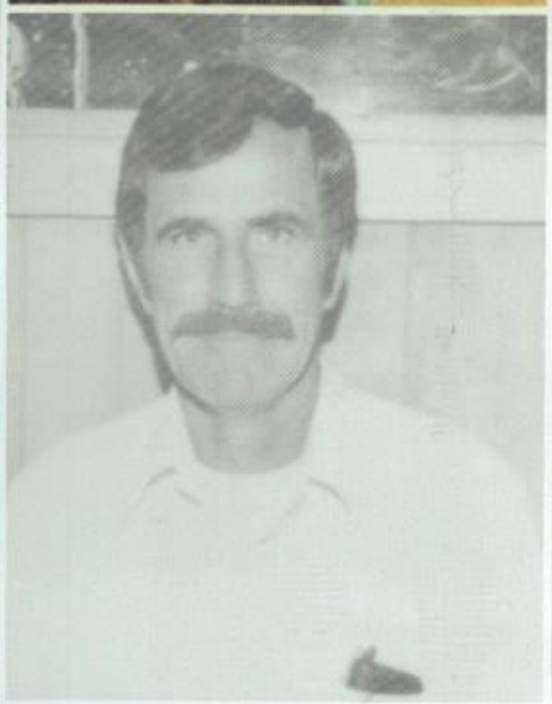
Thank you Nels for excepting our bizarre parental forgeries, your "shower bells," and your brawny stature — The 1984 Sempervirens staff would like to offer our appreciation for your extenuating service to our lives.

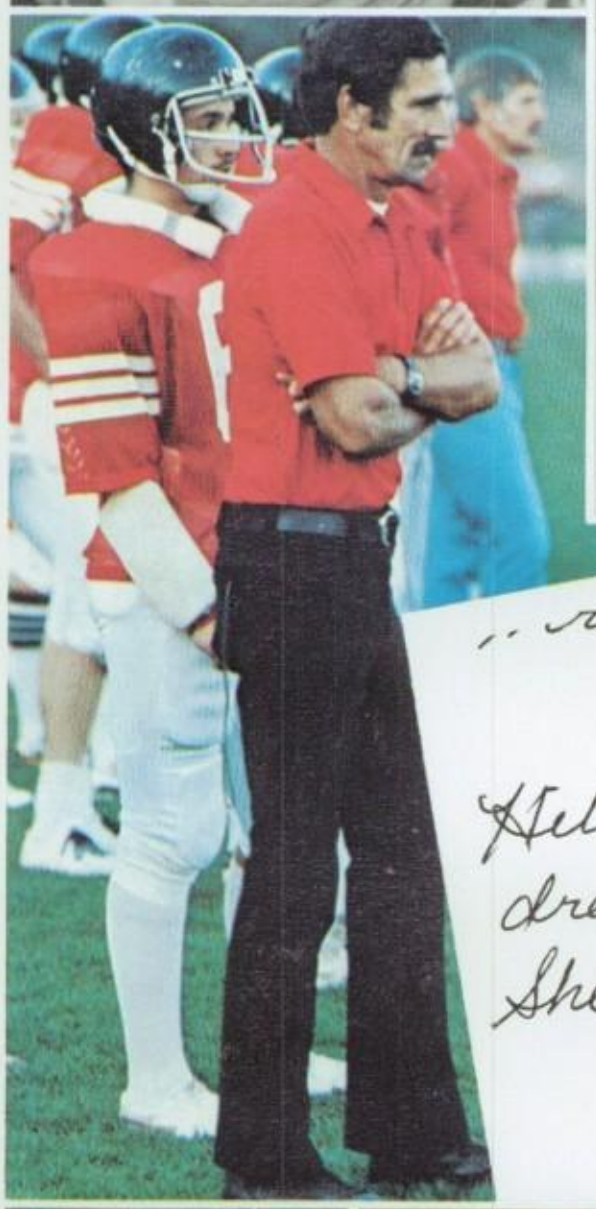
Tom Nelson is an addition to our school that won't ever need remodeling!!



Mr. Tom Nelson







..r. Nelson,
Please excuse Hildegard from dressing out today.
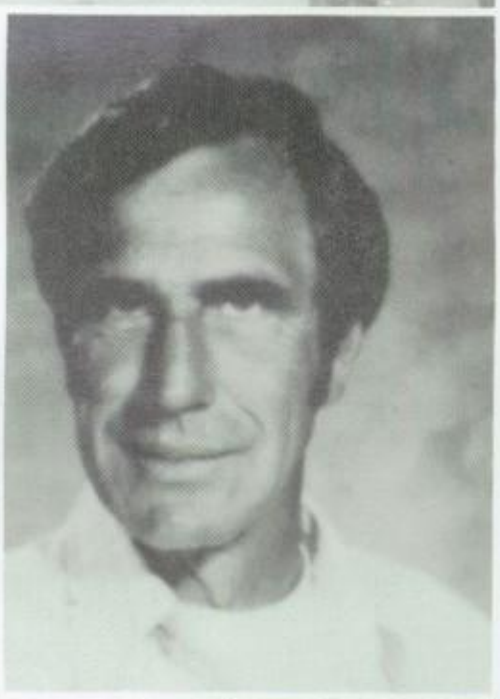
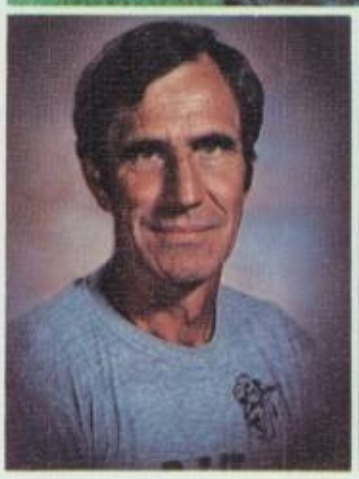
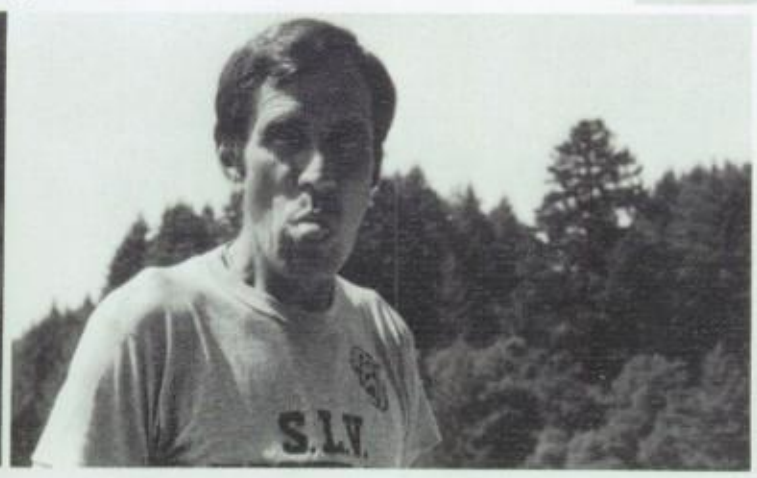
She broke a nail.
Sincerely,
Ms. Humperdinck







Books

Once again, the academic vein of San Lorenzo Valley High School changes in considerable bounds. Administration, faculty, and students are still working to make our school an astute learning facility.

Though many changes constantly graced our campus during the preceding year, each adjustment led everyone to a new appreciation. Many a well-liked teacher ended their stay, while others possessed the occupation of filling their shoes. Moving into new classrooms also posed a common threat to certain people, as usual rooms were traded in for new and more modern ones. Each problem was overcome, until the growing pains ceased and a fresh sense of uniformity took over.

Our campus will never die! With a ruthless character of courageousness, San Lorenzo Valley will never give up the relentless quest to make students who fulfill their potentials. The academic department of our future alma mater will never mislay the battle in making each graduate leave with the capacity to achieve any goal, no matter how distant or impossible the goal seems.

S: "Well, I heard that Frank Mamone got together with this girl, and that Kent Robinett totalled his second car, and that..."

People are dynamic and fun. Each person is unique, and we posess our good points and our faults. Sure, the girl down the hall might not be too nice, or the guy in your English class is a little too obnoxious, but we all interact together. True, we have our factions; Soc's, Surfer's, Chewers, Football players, but here at S.L.V. is the best group of people I've ever seen.

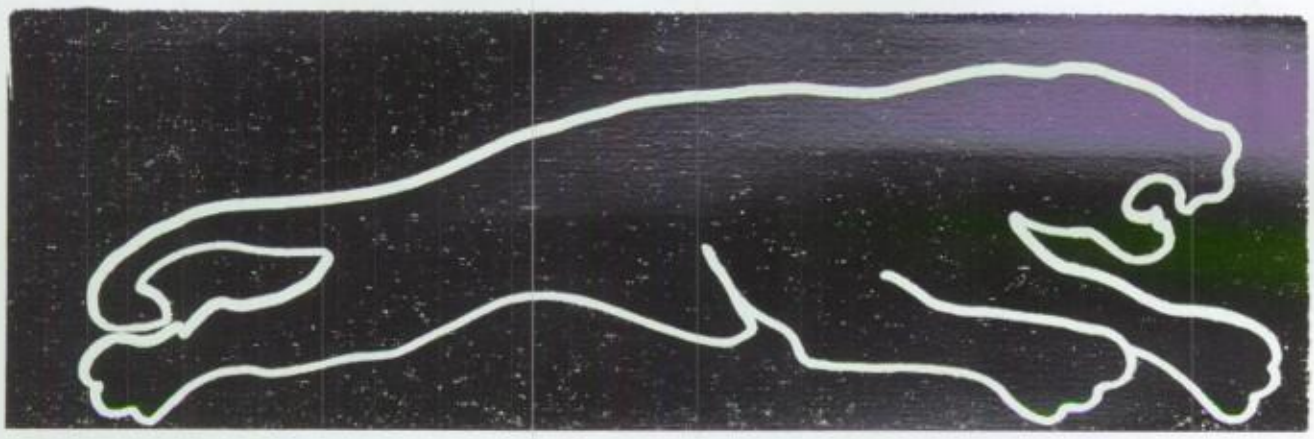
World of S.L.V.



A new add-ition, a new beginning, a rebirth of a school that is rapidly changing to face the future. While the real world seems to be getting worse, S.L.V. will continue to improve, expand, and mature. A gleam of light in a world of darkness, S.L.V. is preparing a golden path for her students to follow. Not only has this school improved in appearance, but the academics, attitudes, and aspirations of students, staff, and administration have greatly improved. Once threatened of losing accredidation, S.L.V. has charged back to gain a six year accredidation and a top ranking among schools in Santa Cruz County for academic excellence. A need was seen by the administration to improve the school climate, so a committee consisting of staff, administration, and a cross section of students from every area of the campus was formed to solve this problem. Interest in our school image had risen, and will continue to rise. Cougar pride shall forever roar over our little valley.

The Class of 1984 once again proved the class' power to easily adapt. Every class member suffered some loss throughout his or her high school career, yet reaped benefits — due to change, which has been the key the past four years of schooling. We had the opportunity to be the first class that received the new principal, who has also made many modifications. Each change become an "imposition", but after the change, everything became routine and the program usually seemed less drastic.

Once again, frequent joyous times became evident as the year progressed. The class survived the first day of school without a true Senior lawn and a traditional Homecoming. Later in December, the class dedicated the first new Senior lawn since the original opening of the campus, and though Homecoming was altered, it proved to be exhilarating for the entire student body, but especially the Seniors.

Proms, picnics, awards, Grad Nites and dances all made the Senior year what it should be: a time for celebration!

Finally, we would like to extend an affectionate bit of gratitude to those who made the past four years the most special. All the teachers for your insight and intellect; our many class advisors — there is no way we would have made it without you — but especilly Mr. Sarow for your initiative; Mrs. Kania for your constant willingness and unfailing assistance, and for the spirit you have added to the usual, mundane days; the underclassmen for putting us in the position of seniority; all the office staff for your concern; the administration for your attention to our overall well-being; and lastly to ourselves and each other, because of our dedication, stamina, and ruthlessness.

The Greatest moment finally came. On June 8, 1984, at four o'clock in the evening, the Senior Class of 1984 triumphantly graduated. Thirteen years of school — had ended — only memories remain: memories that may surpass all others.

Every year, five outstanding boys and girls are chosen from the Junior Class as Boys' and Girls' State candidates. These five compete with each other in either a speech contest (boys) in front of the American Legion Post 661, or by an interview in which the American Legion Auxilary conducts for the girls. The winning candidate travels to Sacramento for a week long convention. During this week, students selected from all over the state run a mock state government in which people are elected for offices on the state, county, and city level. To be involved in this program is a great honor, and everyone benefits for by conducting a state government, the processes and politics of how our state is run become more easily understood. And besides, you meet a lot of new friends.

ENGLISH

Garth day-dreaming about Michelle.

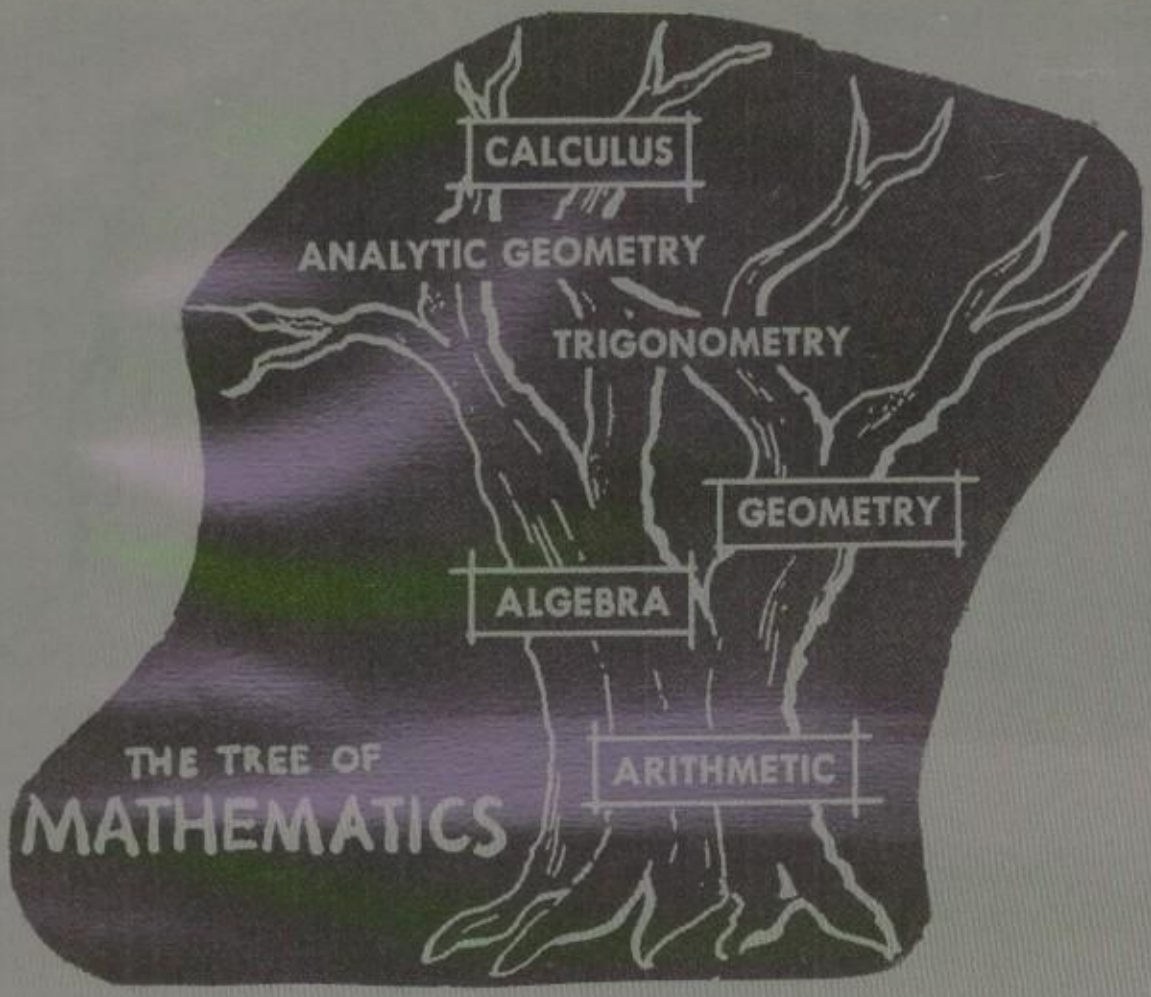
The man who does it all for S.L.V.

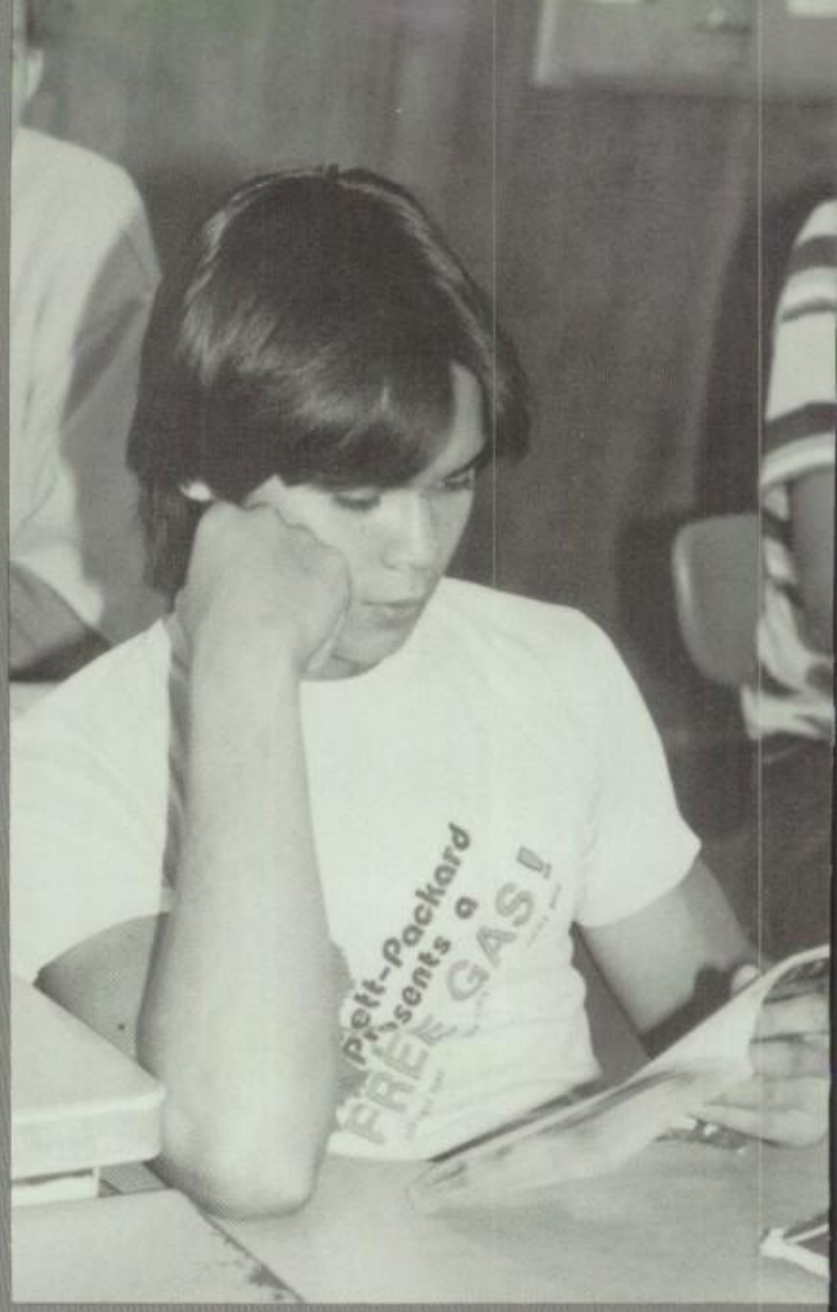
English is the classical academic section of San Lorenzo Valley High, for each student is required to take four years. This year the English Department experienced a stupendous uplift, six brand new English classrooms. These classrooms are beautifully designed pieces of architecture, and were created for positive classroom learning experiences.

The teachers love their new classrooms. They provide more space, a better atmosphere, and are some of the best classrooms at the high school, with more additions to come!

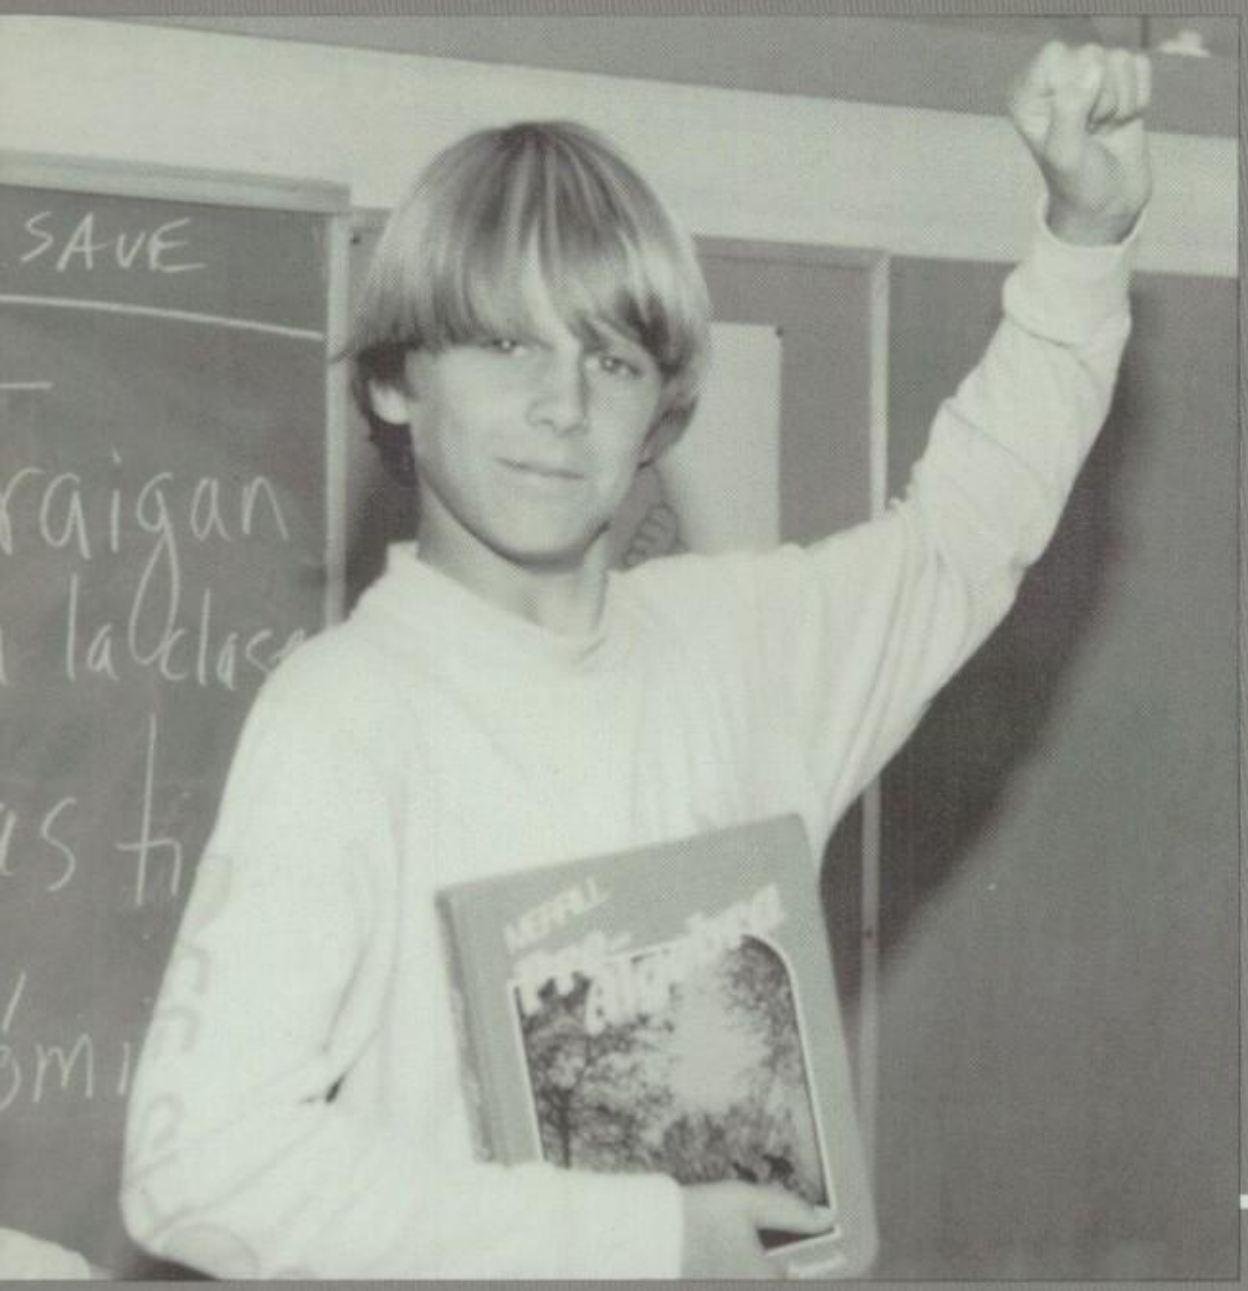
A.P. Senior English, an accellerated English class, continued this year. Let's hope the English Department reports another successful year next year.

A freshman studying her English.

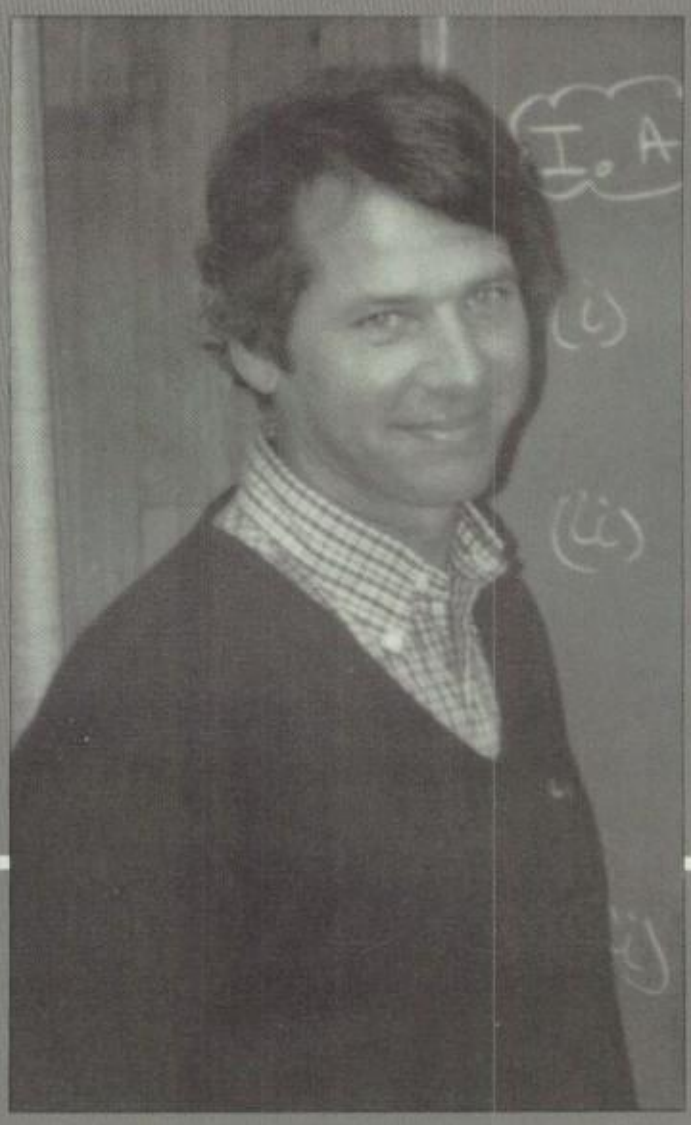




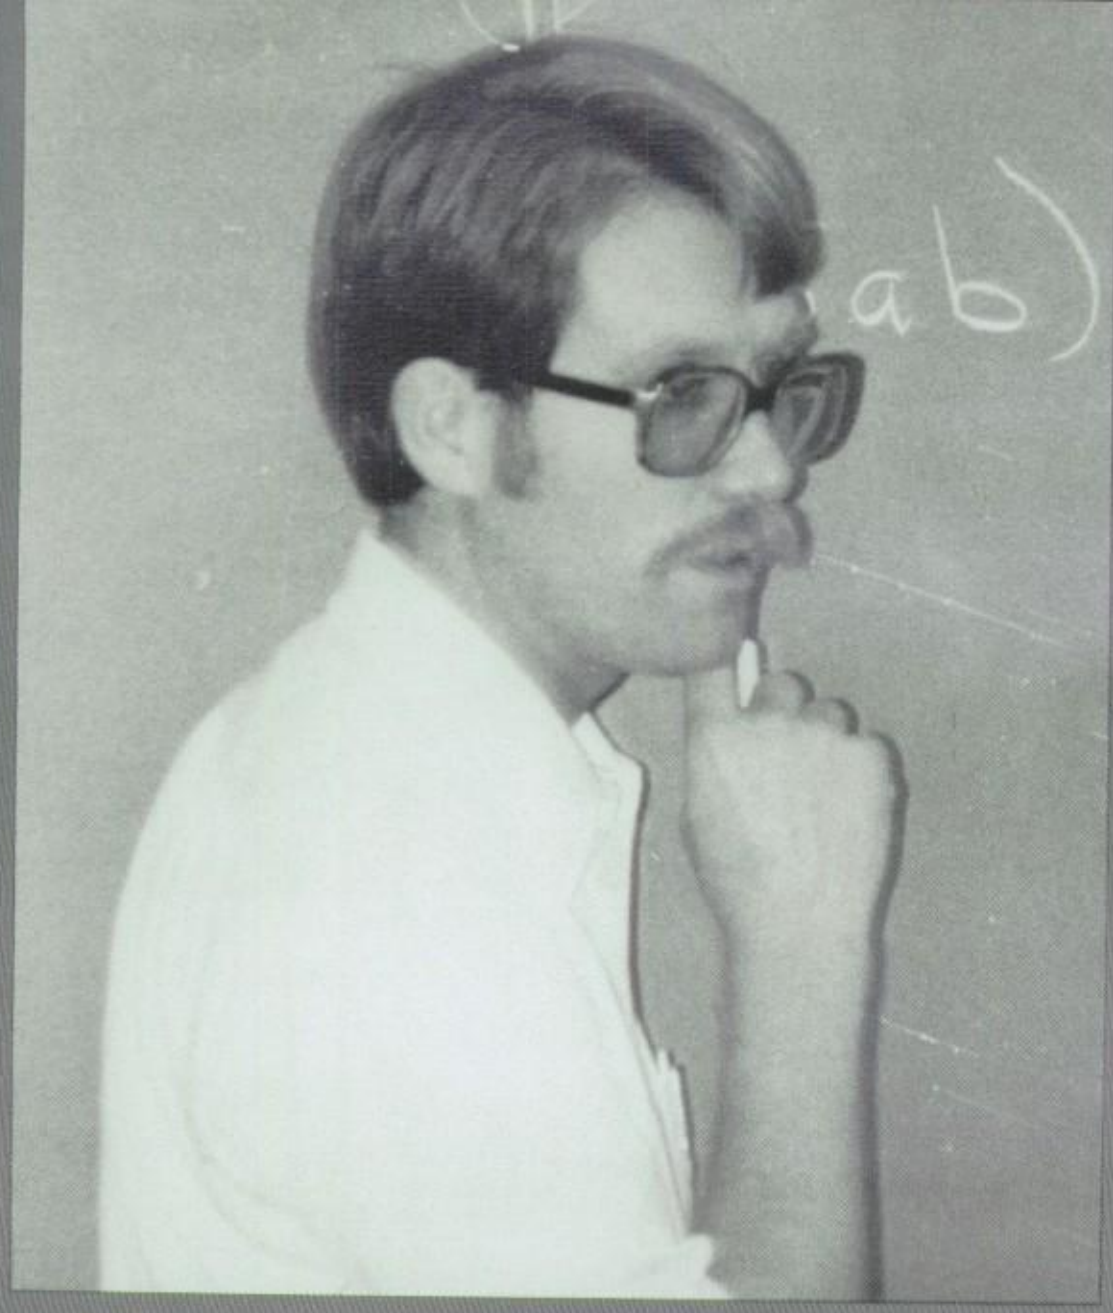
John diligently studies his Algebra 2.



"Captain Cave-man"



"Enjoy!"



"Now students, remember your Algebra!"

When does this class end?

MATHEMATICS

Another addition to the Mathematics Department were new faces: Ms. Diane Borchardt who was teaching Applied Math, and Mark Christian who was teaching Basic Algebra 2. There was a high enrollment in math classes this past year. The teachers were pleased to see the high enlistment. They were even more delighted to see the high S.A.T. scores turned in by the senior class. The Department offered superior courses in the following topics; Consumer Math, Basic Algebra 1 and 2, Algebra 1, Geometry, Algebra 2, Math Analysis, and our new addition, Calculus.

This wide variety in courses enabled students to learn in all areas of Mathematics. There were no drastic changes in the curriculum of the Math Department this past year. Lets hope this same good luck will be passed-on next year.

So if you like a challenge, sign up for one of our extraordinary Math classes offered through our distinguished Math Department.

Another enthralling demo

The science department moved into the new facilities completely this year.

The goal was set for December first. The science staff was hard at work to pack up their equipment from the various rooms and sort everything into sections. Then they moved into the new, consolidated science building. All science classes will be taught in these four classrooms which will contain all-modern features. All equipment used in the new rooms will also be new.

Also, the science department has reviewed the curriculum for this year. The classes have been changed slightly, and renamed. They have split the level of difficulty more precisely for this year. For instance, there is no longer much similarity between Physics (formerly accelerated physics-math science) and Physical Science (experimental science). More importantly, incoming freshmen (1983-84) have a two year science requirement instead of one. The six teachers (four full-time, two part-time) met and all agreed upon these decisions.

Mr. Weiss gives another exciting lecture.

William Sarow — a man of few words.

Another exciting day in history. (Josette Culver)

The main objective this year of the social studies department was to regulate the curriculum.

The main reason why this was being done was that the variety of classes has lessened. As the state government and school district require more social studies classes for graduation, the number of periods of required classes goes up. After the five full-time teachers and one part-time teacher have finished with these, the room for other social studies electives is much less. Therefore, in the place of several specific classes (for example Medieval History, 19th Century Europe, and World Wars One and Two), there is a general one (such as World History).

To make up for these generalized classes, the social studies department was trying to regulate what was taught in each type of class. Otherwise, it would have been easy for a teacher to skip one time period and talk too much about another. One by one, the social studies teachers decided what was to be taught in each class. Hopefully, this resulted in some of the best history classes ever.

BUSINESS

"The Business Department was an enormous success, even though there were no drastic changes," says Richard Mills, the Department head. The offered courses were Beginning Typing (a required class), Advanced Typing, Accounting, and Record Keeping. These courses were taught by the intellectually-stimulating Judy Galvin, along with Irmalee Hongland, and of course, the infamous Richard Mills.

The Student Store, due to competition with the Cafeteria, was only open after school hours. Yet the store was allowed to play music during lunch on a day proceeding a clean day.* *For details, see school Climate Committee.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Although the Foreign Language Department made relatively few changes this year, the students still managed to benefit greatly from this department. A new concept known as the "total physical response" system, which was introduced last year, flourished this year. By actually acting out the words as they are being said, the body and mind work together to help the student remember these words. The teachers in this department are Mrs. Mowatt, Spanish; Mrs. Cannelora, French; Mrs. Foraker, Spanish (Department Chair); and Mrs. Kania, French and Spanish.

Let's smile for our camera.

FINE ARTS

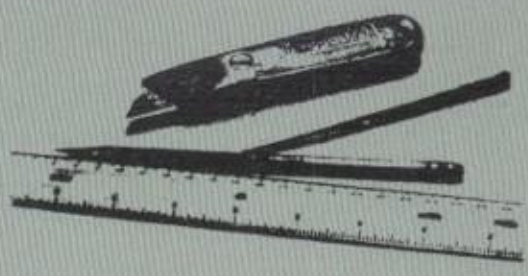
Being only the second year of the Humanities class, it proved to be as interesting as the first. "Art Appreciation is the term the class is most widely labeled; yet students learn far more than to just appreciate "art".

The class dealt with all the types of art, emphasizing what they have in common and what makes each of them unique. Students also explored the interaction of artist and medium; for example, the techniques and styles used by the artist to express his or her theme. Ideally, each student's confidence was cultivated in his or her personal response to the arts through intuition and critical observation. In addition, the class came to understand how the arts communicate, in order to develop sensitivity to what they communicate — both for enjoyment and intellectual enrichment.

"The social sciences attempt to see human beings in the mass, as subjects for generalizations, their behavior being a fit subject for prediction. The individual tends to be buried in the mass, of which he forms an element. The humanities on the other hand, are far more concerned with the individual, and especially with unique creations of the individual imagination which we call works of art."

— Frank Willett

The class offered only to seniors and juniors, enriched and added a bit of sophistication to the classes available in the Fine Arts department at SLV.



In the Art I and Drawing classes, there was a great improvement in student artistic efforts. The old saying: "Practice makes perfect" is heard over and over in Room 10, until you could see it in your dreams. Artist of the Month is another new "addition" to the Fine Arts Department. One art student's work is exhibited in the new library display case each month.

After the English wing is completed, many walls are decorated with student art projects: Jim Dunnegan's portrait of a cowpoke, cartoons by Art I students, and pen and ink assignments.

It is obvious that San Lorenzo Valley High School students show great potential in the creative arts!

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

ross-bows seem to be the popular item in woodshop this year. Well, at ast Vern Billington thinks so.

While other divisions of our school changed dramatically, the Industrial Arts department remained the same, however this department is still a vital part of our school's curriculum. The main function of this department is to develop a vocational aptitude for blue collar jobs. Metal shop, drafting, and wood working are the trades which this department teaches. According to Mr. Crivelli, the woodshop teacher, Industrial Arts pertain all careers for this skill develops hand-eye coordination, a little bit of reasoning, and some common sense. In the future, this department hopes to utilize the now — abandoned chemistry room and the band toom for Industrial Arts purposes.

The teachers of this trade are Mr. Crivelli, woodshop, Mr. Olsen, drafting; and Mr. Harray, who teaches metal shop.

Again there were additions and changes in Room 9. Though not as drastically as in the past, the Home Economics Department continued to modify its programs. A new class, Independent Living, was brought back into the curriculum this year. It proved to be successful once again. Sewing machines and new visual aides were brought in to the class to increase the mode of application of knowledge.

Miss Wolf, department chairperson, possessed many goals for the '83-84 school year. Inventory sheets and color-coded kitchen equipment helped students when preparing culinary masterpieces. Child Development also received reconstruction in its course of study.

Her present and long-term goal is to increase the influx of males into the classes. Miss Wolf believes that men too often listen to stereotyping and do not realize the usage that will arise from their studies in Home Ec. Affirming the responsibilities of husbands, she knows that fifty-percent of the decisions in homes come from the masculine.

The Home Economics Department has changed and grown in 1984.

MUSIC

A very large and important part of our school consists of the band. The music instructor is Mr. Christian. Band is composed of a team; band choir, and a new addition: the jazz band. Mr. Christian hopes that band students learned much and enjoyed this year. He had several goals; first on the academic level he wanted students to better understand harmony and chords, and secondly, to provide the visual concerts to service the school and community now and in the future.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year's student council accomplished a variety of goals. To improve school pride and promote student involvement, lunch time activities were created — in which classes competed to earn points for Class of the Year. Obsolete, and in need of revision, the constitution governing student activities was revised to meet the needs of our ever-changing school. Student Council also served the Associated Student Body in a variety of ways by governing the activities of students and making suggestions to the administration about student's concerns.

CSF, an organization for the recognition of scholastic achievement, provides its members the opportunity to participate in a fun club whose name carries special meaning on a college application. This special collegiate recognition is due to the fact that members of CSF have become eligible for their participation through high grades. After participating in CSF for four out of one's last eight high school semesters (one semester must be in the senior year), a CSF member earns an embossed seal upon his/her diploma denoting his/her "life membership" in one of the school's most prestigious clubs.

KEY CLUB

Our Key Club at SLVHS is definitely a service organization devoted to helping the community as well as the school. The club is under the direction of the San Lorenzo Valley Kiwanis Club.

This past winter the Key Club made a special event occur at the Lukes Home. There was a Christmas tree donated, gifts were given to the children and time was spent sharing Christmas sentiment.

John Horner was the advisor and the members met every Wednesday. The officers included Scott Voak as president, Andrew Campbell as secretary; David Namba and David Santiago were also active.

The annual meeting of regional Key Clubs met in Salinas. The statewide conference took place in Anaheim.

The Natural Philosophers is a science club. We are dedicated to learning about scientific discoveries, old and new. Our motto is "In Quest of Knowledge." That is exactly what this club represents.

For the first time in three years. we have finally gone on some field trips. Our first was to the Rosicrusian Planetarium; after overcoming some difficulties. This was a success. Other field trips for this year included the Zayante atomic vault.

This year marked the 25th anniversary of the Natural Philosophers. Created in 1958 by Preston Q. Boomer, the club has continued to grow and change through the years. The anniversary was celebrated by having a treasure hunt at Boomeria. The treasure was, of course, "chocolate chippers."

Anyone also interested in knowledge and finding out how the universe operates is encouraged to join the Natural Philosophers in autumn.

STUDENT STORE

"Songs of the Red and Black,
The laughter and the cheers,
Football games and all these things
Will echo through the years . . ."
That's the song the Alumni sing,
But our little song has a different ring.
Every day at 2:15, we open up our doors.
We're low on food, have moldy walls,
  And "ugh, those awful floors."
We start our work quite merrily,
Getting orders readily,
But then we see those angry faces,
Yelling, screaming, trading places.
"Snickers here" and
"Pepsi there",
Money flowing everywhere.
Buttons pushed and people, too,
Getting told just what to do.
"Get me this and get me that."
"Oh, never mind, go put that back."
"Where's my money?"
"Buspass, please."
Now we serve quite angrily.

At three o'clock, we close the doors
Despite your yelling and your roars.
We count the money, we end the day,
We grab our bags and walk away.

We'd like to thank our regulars,
You people are the real stars,
Like Danny, Collin, and our friend Roach,
Who come across with the nice approach.
"The usual please, if you don't mind?"
These are the people who are truly kind.
Just say "please," that's all we ask
Just to ease our horrid task.

Well, summer's here, so have some fun
From all of us and the shack we run.

After a few years of absence, the Speech and Debate Club became a "new addition" to our list of clubs. In its first year, it opened doors for students to new concepts of education.

The club is designed for students who enjoy public speaking and competition in State-wide tournaments. Even though the membership was small in its first year, the students learned and accomplished a great deal. Students participated in individual events such as dramatic and humorous presentation, advocacy and expository speeches, and even impromptu speeches, to further broaden their educational experience. The members were able to become involved with Debates and Student Congress tournaments. They met after school weekly to practice speeches and rehearse debates. They were then able to use their knowledge and talents against numerous other schools. The club traveled to various schools through out the Bay Area and competed to win trophies and awards. Under the supervision and guidance of Ms. Nolan, who was a new staff member, the students learned a great deal.

The intellectual Ms. Nolan having a bright idea.

PEP CLUB

This year proved to be the finalé for Pep Club; for next year this club will no longer exist. The main function of this club was to help train prospective cheerleaders, while providing added support and spirit at games. Our Pep Clubbers once again did an excellent job this year as evidenced by the Dads' Tournament Spirit Award, and a winning basketball and football season. Since Pep Club has not been mandatory for a girl to become a cheerleader, the size of the club has diminished greatly, and Pep Club was discontinued. The size of the cheerleading squad will increase, however, to compensate for the lack of spirit once provided by the Pep Club.

International Club was an organization made up of students who wanted to find out more about the world. The Club's goals were to have the students get together and learn more about each other and international philosophies, but most of all to have a good time. The meetings were well supported by foreign exchange students who taught and learned from the other club members. They exchanged ideas about their lives around the world. The club planned many activities such as an overnighter in San Francisco, a ski trip, and social dinners. The club was again an enjoyable and learning experience for all involved.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB: A universal concept.

ATHLETICS

Our cheerleading squad is a vital part of our athletic organization. These girls provide much needed spirit, enthusiasm, and halftime entertainment. For the 25th year, our spirit leaders brought home the prestigious Dad's Club spirit award, which is a spectacular feat. Along with such noble deeds, they faithfully attend the school's sporting events and cheer our teams on to victory. A dedicated organization, the cheerleaders are a beautiful supplement to the athletic department.

The Cougar football squad posted a respectable season, tying for third place in the SCCAL and possessing the #1 defense in the county. According to Coach Hansen, the team's most productive showing was against Aptos, when our team annihilated the Rich Boy's 16-0. Our defense was awesome, our offense productive, and the team produced a great game. Coach Hansen wishes next year's team to keep improving, and he has many hopeful players returning to the squad to provide a powerful force on both offense and defense for next year's team. Coming from last year's ever powerful team, the boy's tennis team had high hopes for its 1984 season. The league proved tough this year, and we landed a respectable fourth place in league standings. Top doubles team of Greg Sides and David Namba proved to be a consistent winning combination for the team, as did top players Jerry Raymond and Sean Brayshaw. With many younger players in the program, next year's team could prove to do quite well.

This year's volleyball season turned out to be a respectable effort, as our ferocious and hard-working team posted an overall finish of fifth in the league play. The power behind the net play for the girl's was Lisa Kehma, along with Lisa Trask. Good serving, team play, and hard work paid off for the Cougar's as the rose to the pinnacles of their ability. Coach Holz "liked this year's play" and is looking forward to next year's team very much, and is hoping for a few players to attend summer volleyball camp to improve their skills.

Golf, that ever elitest sport, is not so much a team game. Yet, our team faired rather well in the SCCAL this year, as top players Tom Dempsey and Greg Seals were consistently good out in the course. The lower class players on the team have much to learn, yet they showed great improvements over the year, and by the time they are upperclassmen, they should be league standouts. Congratulations to the golf team for their commitment to excellence.

Due to the greater extent of injuries, the school's soccer team did not produce quite an effective of a season as it should. With four or five key players on crutches, the team's tenatious offense and defense could be picked apart by the opponents. Also, scoring press by the other teams, which lasted only a few minutes, proved disasteruous. Thus, the team did not live up to its full potential, thus causing a season that was not of a high caliber.

WRESTLING

Under the formidable coaching of Bob Grant, our wrestling team has proven to be a strong power in the SCCAL. This year's team was not as strong as in the past, yet we still could top the league with some key impressive showings. With an average practice time of three hours a day, the hard work could possibly pay off with a victorious season, which would keep the winning tradition alive at S.L.V., and maybe add a few more penants to the gym's wall.

BASKETBALL

Coach Mark Henry led his cougars into the playoffs for his fourth consecutive year. With the most rounded team he has had in years, Coach predicts a year in which S.L.V. produces some stunning upsets. With league being well-talented this year, any one team could have a chance at the title. With guards Stewart and Gentry, the team will have a strong backcourt, while Bobby Hess, Mickey Dunnugan, and Kent Robinett form the frontcourt. "If the team plays intelligently and with some intensity, S.L.V. could produce a stunning year."

Under the strict coaching philosophies of Gary Grellman, our girls' basketball team had a good chance of pursuing a league title. Our team possessed size, speed, and quickness which are all of the necessary elements of a successful team. "If our team plays with good intensity, we could be a potential dark horse next year. We stand a better chance next year with all of the starters returning," says Grellman. Since girls' basketball is becoming specialized, it is becoming much more exciting to watch and attend, and support is what makes a good program.

After last year's 24-0 team, our girl's softball team couldn't get much better this year, and yet, as of right at press time, our team single-handedly holds first place in the SCCAL. Pretty impressive, huh? Coach Richard's excellent coaching should reveal another tough team, though a little weaker in hitting than last year's team. It's hard when one has to live in the image of such a great team, yet his team could take the league championship this year again, and that definitely would be a respectable feat in itself. With top SCCAL pitcher Leslie Sherbourne on the mound and a host of excellent fielders backing her up, we should exhibit tenacious defense, and our offense should be stunning. Good luck girls!

The baseball team of this year has the potential to become a major force. With returning pitchers Dave Wood and Jim Koenig, the Valley has a chance to win some games on pitching alone. With a good defense to back up our pitchers, the Valley should hold the opposition to minimum scores. With an excellent offensive attack, the Valley should be able to blowout the weaker teams in the league and give the better teams a scare. May the best happen for the Cougars.

Thanks,
Little did I know! One could not imagine. Deadline!
Rob, off goes my hat! The Lord only knows how you survive! Mrs. Austin, Kent, Renee, Sheri! We did good!! Yearbook made my Senior year... an ADVENTURE!
We know what the book means to us, who cares about the others! Headache... wow...
Success... Color me,

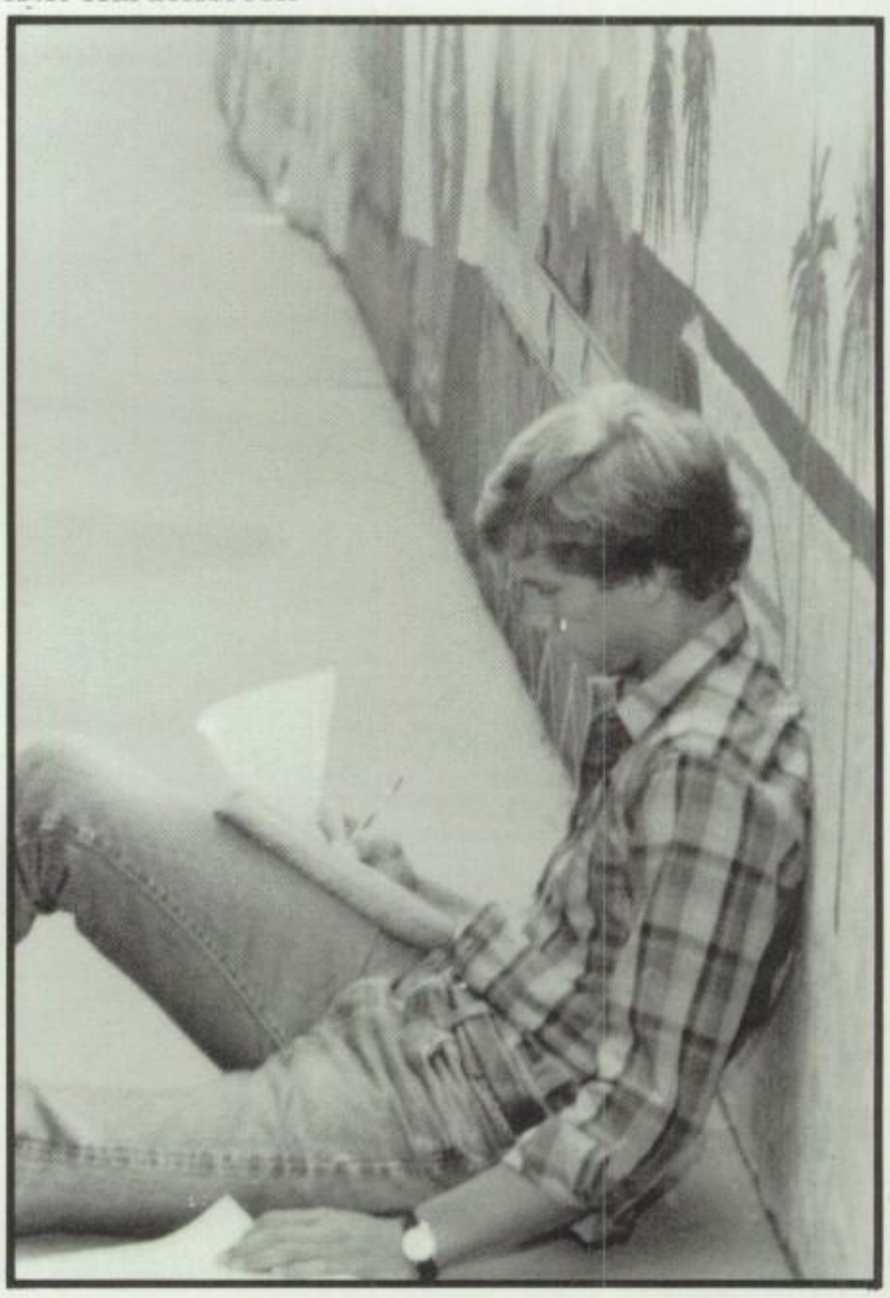
"This yearbook caused a lot of headaches, but it was a good learning experience ... at least it's bound!!!" — Sheri Hardenbrook

"Kent finally got his line in." — Renee Candia



"I drive fast cars, enjoy beautiful women, play the stock exchange, and still take the weekends off." — Kent Robinett

School's out and my high school career has finished. For myself and the class of 1984, a big change in our lives face us as we approach major decisions on what to do after high school. For the rest, a step to higher learning to prepare themselves for the decisions that await them after graduation. Change. This word certainly pertained to the 1983-84 school year. Policies changed and our school's appearance certainly improved. Yearbook also changed. After years of being a class, yearbook suddenly became an after school club with a new advisor, Mrs. Jennifer Austin. Obviously, I faced a major challenge this year as I accepted my responsibility of being Editor in Chief for this particular yearbook, but with the support of my family, friends, and a cooperative staff, we all worked together to produce this yearbook.

For those of you who endured reading this particular piece of copy, I just ask you to be understanding and forgiving for any mistakes we've made and keep in mind the situation in which we worked this year. To those friends of mine who have shared my high school years with me, I thank you for your friendship and support, for your friendship meant much to me; especially when I was under so much pressure.

Well, I guess I should conclude this letter of sentimentality.

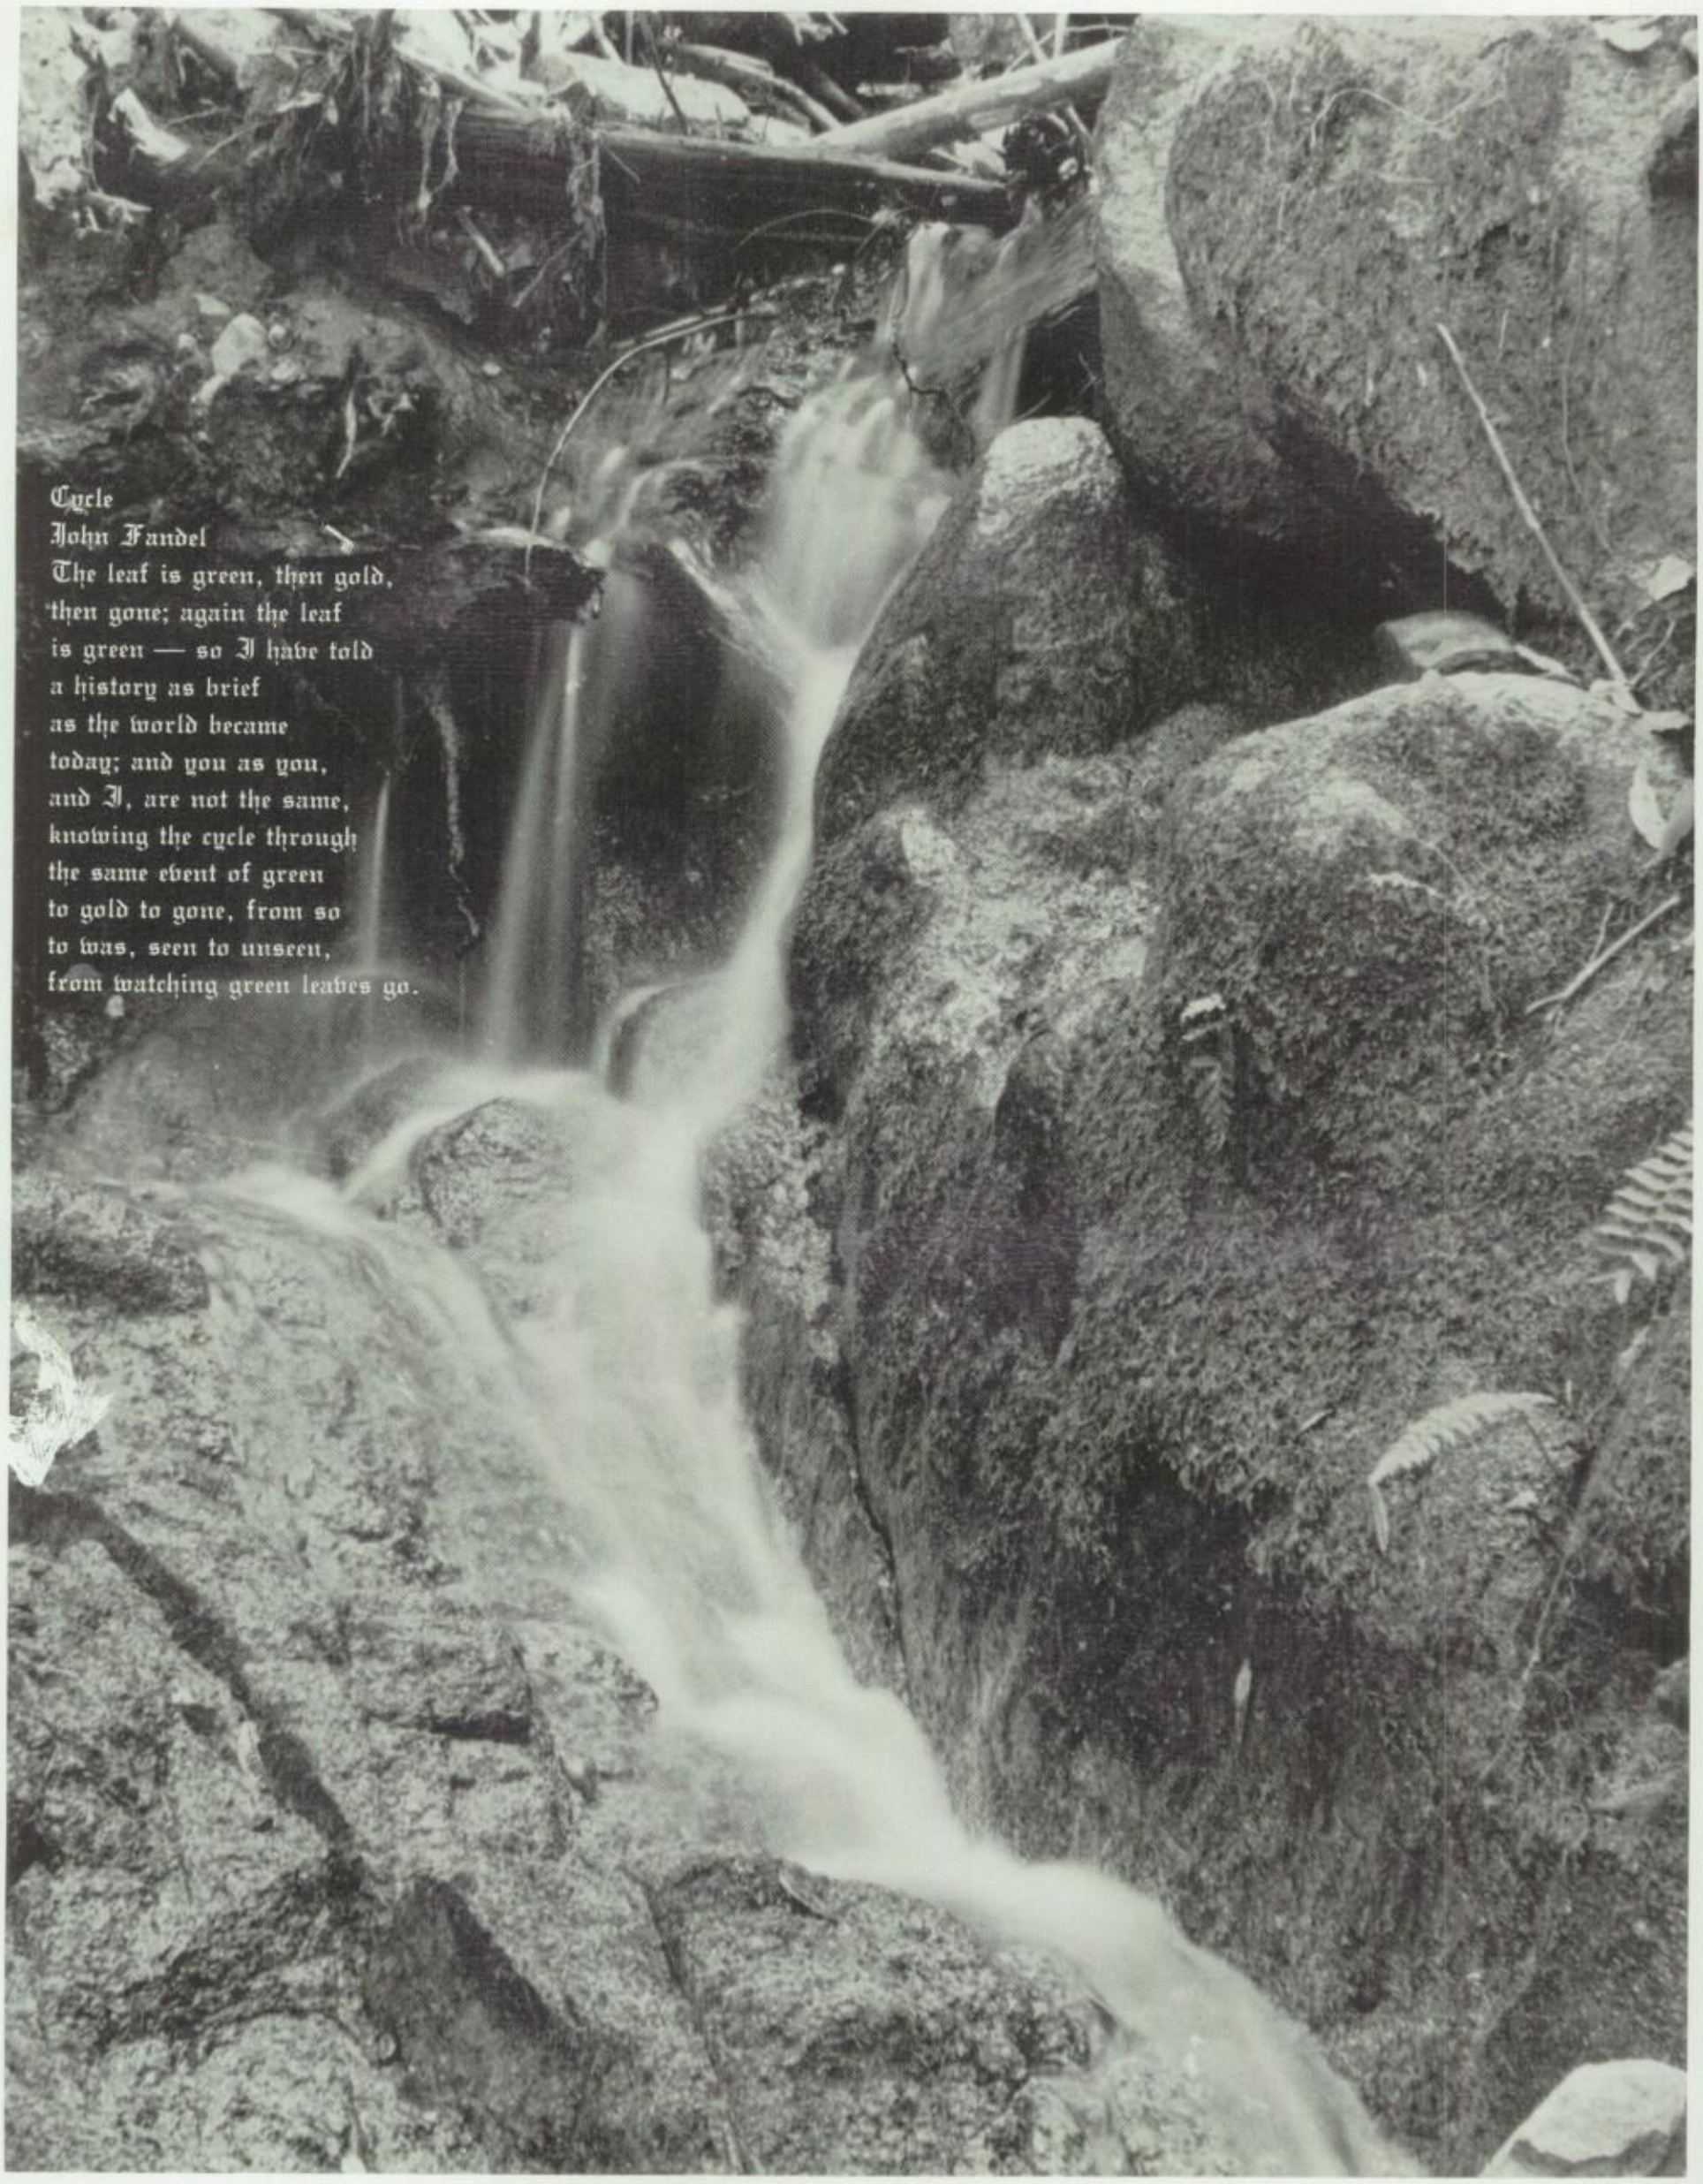
God bless you all,

Robert A. Carlisle

Drobney and I during my senior year.

The family who loves me; (from l-r) Karen, Dave, Paul, me, Danny, Beth, and Joe.

Just me and my teddy bear, Henry, on my sixth birthday.



Cycle
John Fandel
The leaf is green, then gold, then gone; again the leaf is green — so I have told a history as brief
as the world became today; and you as you,
and I, are not the same,
knowing the cycle through the same event of green to gold to gone, from so
to was, seen to unseen,
from watching green leaves go.
